

We want to open a new school near you... and we want you and your community to decide how to make it the very best.

In the areas identified for the proposed new schools there is a need for more school places for local children and to continue to raise standards in the area.

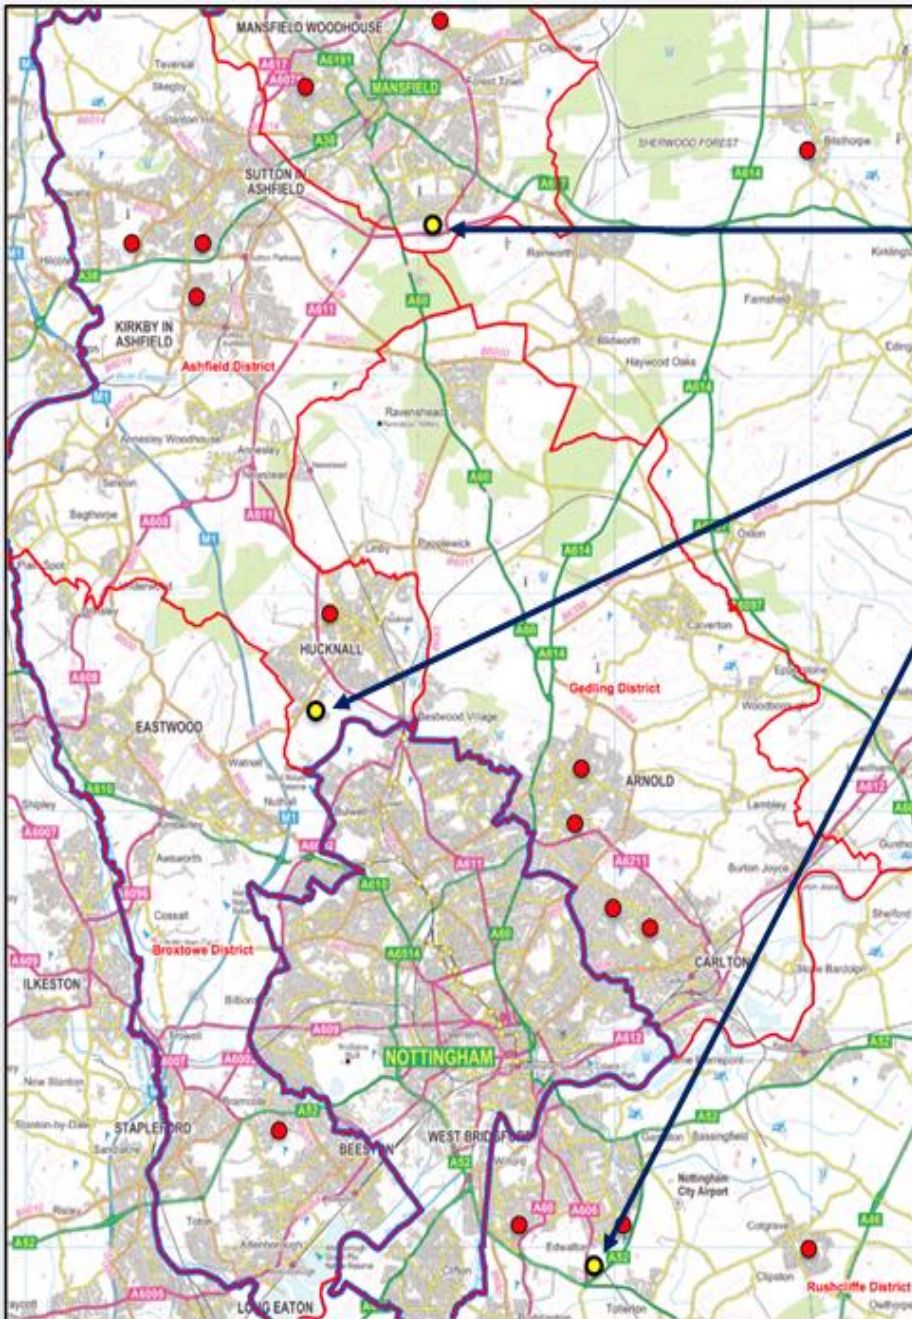

The Flying High Trust has a proven track record and expertise in creating schools that are beacons of learning in their communities. Our schools foster the best environment for your child to excel and flourish. Please see over for the map and initial ideas for the schools, and find the ways that your ideas can shape the ethos, character and vision of the new schools.
